Died last week at his residence on the Luckiamute, two miles below Lewisville, in Polk county, Oregon, James O'Neal, in the seventy-fourth year of his age. Mr O'Neal was one of the earliest pioneers of Oregon, having come to this valley in 1834. One by one the pioneers of Oregon are passing away.

A Umatilla punster says: "a paragraphist has the audacity to ask: 'What is the most famous candle on record' and answers 'Tilton's!' [Tilton scandal.] Now, up this way we don't pretend to know much, of course, but our cheeks would absolutely blush with shame if we couldn't 'Beecher-Tilton scandal.'"

The faculty of Monmouth College, Polk county, is as follows: T F Campbell, A M, President and Professor of Bible History and Literature; James C Campbell, A M, Professor of Mathematics and Astronomy; A J Campbell, A B, L B, Professor of Greek and Latin languages and literature; J C Campbell, A M, Principal of Preparatory Department; A F Campbell, A B, Teacher of Modern Languages; Mrs M J Campbell, Teacher in Piano Music; Miss Mattie Campbell, Assistant Teacher of the Piano Music and Teacher of Guitar; Mrs M Lindsay, Teacher in Wax and other Fancy Work.

Charles Green located two ledges in Rye Valley District, Baker county, five years ago, the Green Discovery and Monumental, and has recently negotiated with Pierson and McD[illegible] of San Francisco for a 20-stamp steam mill, whereby they all become equal partners in the mill and ledge. The mill was purchased in San Francisco and is now on the way. The lumber is on the ground and twenty men are at work putting up the mill. Mr Green has shipped several tons of this ore to Swansea through an English company, and after paying all expenses it netted him $190 to the ton. These are silver ledges and the 20-stamp mill will have all the appliances for reducing silver. Mr Durkee says there are 600 men in Amelia City, Mormon Basin and Rye valley, all at work.

George Wilson, a Victoria drayman, died on the 13th from erysipelas produced by blood poisoning. The accident occurred while deceased was feeding his hogs with meat. One of the animals snapped at a piece and just grazed the doomed man's thumb with a tusk. Nothing was thought of the wound at the time and when medical aid was called in the patient was beyond the reach of medical aid. Deceased was a native of Scotland. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss.

The trial of Dean Cridge at Victoria on charges of contumacy and insubordination resulted in the accused presenting a protest to the Ecclesiastical Court and his withdrawal from the room amidst the plaudits of the entire body of spectators, which was composed of many of our most respectable citizens of all denominations. The Colonist says: When the Dean read the close of the protest charging the Lord Bishop with having seceded from the Church of England, the cheers that burst forth shook the building. The Court has taken time to consider its verdict. In the meanwhile a memorial to the Archbishop of Canterbury praying for the superannuation of the Lord Bishop will probably be signed and sent forward.

DECISION BY THE POSTMASTER GENERAL.—Washington Sept 11—The Postmaster General has decided that no advance or payment will be made to clerks or employes on account of salary for services not rendered and for which compensation is not fully due at the time of payment. This is construed as forbidding advances on account of salary to clerks going home to vote. Similar orders will be issued by the Treasury Department.

The resolution was adopted.

[illegible]

Mr DOLPH moved that the Sergeant-at-Arms be directed to extend an invitation to the Clergy of the city of Salem to open the session of each day with prayer.

Mr MYERS moved to extend the invitation [illegible] to the Clergy of Oregon.

After considerable [illegible] the motion [illegible] was withdrawn and the original motion [illegible]

The Senate then adjourned to 2 o'clock P M.

Afternoon Session.

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment, all the members being present.

On motion of Mr WEBSTER the Senate proceeded to vote for Page, and on the seventh ballot Frank McCord [illegible] was declared duly elected.

Mr VAN CLEAVE moved that a committee of three on Rules be appointed.

Amended on motion of Mr WEBSTER to adopt the Rules of last session as permanent rules of the Senate.

On motion of Mr WATSON the resolution providing that the enrolling committee appoint enrolling clerk was reconsidered and [illegible] was elected on the first ballot.

A message from the House announced the organization of that body.

Mr DOLPH introduced a joint resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of two on the part of the Senate and three on the part of the House to inform the Governor of the organization of both Houses, which was adopted, and the President appointed Dolph and Myers on the part of the Senate.

The special order for 3 o'clock being the contest between Cornelius and Buford, that matter was taken up and laid upon the table.

Mr RICHARDSON introduced a joint resolution providing for a committee of two on the part of the Senate and three on the part of the House on joint rules, and Richardson and VanCleave were appointed on the part of the Senate.

Mr DOLPH, Chairman of the Committee appointed to wait upon the Governor, reported that the Governor had no communication to make until the vote for Governor [illegible] been counted and the result declared.

On motion the Senate adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The election of Enrolling Clerk was taken up. M H Abbott and J R Coleman were placed in nomination. A vote being taken resulted: Abbott [illegible], Coleman [illegible], blank [illegible].

The House proceeded to the election of Sergeant-at-Arms. C Hathaway, [illegible] McIntyre, [illegible] Wilhelm, J D Davis, [illegible] Galbraith and Mr Aiken were placed in nomination.

On the first ballot the vote stood: Hathaway [illegible], McIntyre [illegible], Wilhelm [illegible], Davis [illegible], Galbraith 8, Aiken 3. No election.

Mr CRANSTON placed in nomination J W Fisher.

SECOND BALLOT—Hathaway [illegible], McIntyre 13, the rest scattering.

The election of Doorkeeper being next in order, J F Wagner, [illegible] Halland, [illegible] Ferguson were placed in nomination.

The House then adjourned till half past 1 o'clock.

Afternoon Session

ELECTION OF DOORKEEPER

The House resumed at the appointed hour and proceeded with the election of Doorkeeper. There were placed in nomination A J Wagner, G H [illegible] and [illegible] Ferguson. Mr Wagner was almost unanimously elected, receiving [illegible] votes out of [illegible]. He served in the same capacity in the last Legislature.

ELECTION OF PAGES

There were nominated for Page D A Daugherty, Wm Stevens, [illegible] Gatch, [illegible] Lindsley, George Hernandez and Walter Wade.

A proposition that two Pages be elected instead of one was not [illegible] after some discussion.

On the first ballot there was no election.

Mr [illegible] moved a suspension of the rules and that the two boys who stood highest on the ballot be appointed Pages.

The motion was lost, and Daugherty, who received 23 votes, and Gatch, who received 18, were declared the Pages of the House.

MISCELLANEOUS

The Secretary of State administered the oath of office to the officers previously sworn in.

On motion of Mr GALLOWAY the Clerk was instructed to notify the Senate that the House was organized and ready to proceed to business.

On motion of Mr FLYMALE, it was agreed that the members retain during the remainder of the session the seats they now occupy.

THE NEW CODE IN THE HOUSE.

Mr CHAMBERS introduced the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be requested to furnish the House with copies of the Senate and House Journals of 18[illegible] with the session Laws of 1868, 1870 and 1872, and with the revised edition of the General Laws known as the Code.

Mr REED of Marion moved to amend by striking out the reference to the Code. Mr Reed said his object was to guard the House against ratifying the action of the Commission that procured the printing of the new Code. It seemed to him that if they adopted the resolution they would also be adopting the new Code, which would hardly be legitimate at the present time.

Mr CHAMBERS said the resolution had not been understood by the gentleman from Marion. The Code it referred to was the old one. At present no new Code had been recognized.

On motion of Mr LAUGHLIN the resolution was amended so as to include the laws of 1874.

On motion of Mr GILBERT the resolution was amended so as to [illegible] of the old Code.

On motion of Mr STONE the resolution was further amended so as to specify the Code of 1862 and 1864.

Mr FIDLER then moved that the resolution be made the special order for to-morrow (Thursday) morning at 11 o'clock, which motion prevailed.

A message from the Senate was read announcing the permanent organization of that body.

On motion of Mr MAYS the rules the House had at the last Legislature were adopted until further order.

Leave of absence for Thursday was granted Mr Dufur [illegible]

On motion of Mr FIDLER the members of the press were invited to seats within the bar.

Mr GILBERT proposed the following resolution:

Resolved, That the House appoint a committee of three to act with a like committee on the part of the Senate to wait upon His Excellency the Governor and inform him that the two Houses have organized and are ready to receive any communication he may have to make.

[illegible] BIENNIAL RAID ON THE POST OFFICE

Mr DARST proposed a resolution to the effect that the Secretary of State be requested to furnish each member with three dollars worth of postage stamps as provided by law.

The resolution was [illegible] by a vote of [illegible] to [illegible].

Mr GALLOWAY proposed a resolution to the effect that the Secretary of State be requested to furnish twenty five cents worth of stamps to each member [illegible] laughter.

Mr GEARIN moved to amend by inserting four dollars.

Mr McCLUNG moved to amend by inserting one dollar.

A motion to indefinitely postpone was lost and both amendments were lost.

Mr CRANSTON then moved to amend the resolution of Mr Galloway by inserting three dollars.

The resolution [illegible] thus amended was adopted.

OTHER BUSINESS

The Senate joint resolution appointing a joint committee to wait upon the Governor was read to the House and adopted.

Mr Stott proposed the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Clerk inform the Senate that the House is ready to open and publish the vote for Governor.

The resolution prevailed.

The House then adjourned until [illegible] to-morrow (Thursday) morning at 9 o'clock.

LOUIS OF BAVARIA AND HIS LAKE ON THE HOUSE TOP

King Louis has, it is said, entirely lost in these last few years the slenderness of figure and the youthful look which so lately distinguished him. He has become stout and is now a large, finely proportioned and handsome man instead of an elegant, poetic looking boy. He is said to be in treaty with the Royal family of Prussia for the hand of the daughter of Prince Frederick Charles, grand niece to the Emperor of Germany. He has not yet outgrown his mania for odd and whimsical follies, though he has not equaled of late years his notion of having a lake constructed on the roof of the Royal palace, where I believe it still exists and whereon he meant in imitation of Lohengrin to sail in a boat drawn by swans. The architect, when summoned to receive his orders, at first declared that the thing could not be done. "But it must be done," quoth King Louis, and the must of Princes being still potential even in this republican age, the lake was finally constructed. Then a new difficulty arose. The waters of the lake were not a pretty color. The King wanted them to be blue, after the orthodox fashion of poetic and romantic sheets of water. So the water was drawn off and the sides and bottom of the tank painted blue, but still the water refused to show the proper azure tint. Then an infusion of indigo was tried and the lake looked blue enough in all conscience, but the unhappy swans got dyed the same tint by sailing upon its bosom and presented a splotchy and streaky appearance which was anything but romantic. So the modern Lohengrin had the tank refilled with pure water and resigned himself to the idea of a colorless lake. This odd construction was at one time shown to strangers, but a traveling Frenchman once wrote to one of the Parisian papers a highly ludicrous account of it, which narrative, coming to the knowledge of the King, so incensed him that he forbade the guardians of the place ever to show his cherished lake again to strangers, and so a heartless and unsympathizing public is shut out from all prospect of ever again inspecting this marvel.—Cor. Philadelphia Press.

A BRIEF OBITUARY

From an overdose of popular opinion died in the Second Vermont District, Sept 1, Luke P Poland, aged 58 years and 10 months. The deceased gets the following touching notice from the New York Tribune:

Judge Poland was an earnest supporter of the Administration, so earnest that he relieved it of any annoyance and his fellow Congressmen of any sense of having been rebuked by taking his back pay in full. He stood by. He was that kind of a man. In a dress coat with brass buttons he always stood by. When Messrs Carpenter and Conkling thought that a ribald and licentious press ought to be rebuked and that the only way to rebuke it was to pass a law allowing newspaper publishers to be hauled before a judge and jury of the creation of Congress for saying things about members of Congress, Mr Poland in his blue coat and brass buttons stood by. For stoning Stephen he had no great talent, but for holding the wearing apparel of those who did stone Stephen he had positive genius. He went back to his constituents and told them in an unruffled numbers that he had stood by the Administration and as for the stoning of Stephen, Stephen had not been stoned and he had only held the clothes of some persons who had thrown boiled p[illegible]—not at Stephen but at one of the lecturers who were [illegible] that way.

KILLED BY A LOCOMOTIVE.—Buffalo N Y Aug 30—Arthur W Fox, a prominent business man of this city, of the firm of Fox & William, while driving last night across the New York Central Railroad track at the outskirts of this city, was struck by the locomotive of the night train from Niagara Falls. He was thrown from his buggy under the wheels of the train and his body was mangled in a fearful manner. Death was almost instantaneous.

STATE TEMPERANCE UNION

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

SALEM September 15 1874

The Oregon State Temperance Union met in Third Annual Session this day, in Reed's Opera House at 2 o'clock P M and was called to order by Mrs M E Hoxter, Vice President, the President, Syl C Simpson, being absent.

Prayer was offered by Dr C H Hall of Salem.

Officers present as follows: Mrs M E Hoxter, Vice President; W R Dunbar, Secretary; R Ried, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs Helen McClain, Treasurer.

On motion of Mr Ford the following were appointed Committee on Credentials: W R Dunbar, R Ried and Mrs Helen McClain.

[illegible] Turner was elected Assistant Secretary and the Union adjourned until 3 o'clock.

SECOND SESSION—TUESDAY

The Union met at 3 P M and the report of the Committee on Credentials was submitted. [The report is omitted on account of a press of matter.—ED. OREGONIAN.]

The report was adopted.

The President then called upon all the delegates who had not previously taken the obligation to come forward, which was responded to by about fifty persons, of which quite a number were ladies.

Hon Syl C Simpson, who had been elected Chief Clerk of the Senate, sent in his resignation as President of the Union and the same was accepted.

J W Watts, Tilmon Ford, Rev N Doane and Rev D J Pierce were nominated. The three latter withdrew and Mr T B Handley being put in nomination, a rising vote was taken, resulting: Watts 30, Handley 31.

Mr Handley was declared elected President for the remainder of the term. He came forward, briefly addressed the Convention and assumed his position.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That all resolutions and other propositions relating to legislative action be referred to the Committee on Political Action without debate, and that all other resolutions be referred to the Committee on Resolutions, also without debate.

Rev A Jones moved that a committee of five be appointed to provide accommodations for the delegates while in the city. Carried, and the following were appointed said committee: Rev A Jones, W R Stewart, Rev H M Starr, M J Chapman and Geo P Holman.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEES

The President appointed the following committees:

On M[illegible]—Dr C H Hall, Mrs R M Robinson, Miss Albertine Mitchell.

Legislative Action—W F Owens, J H McClung, W Cranston.

Resolutions—J Hoberg, J W Watts, Mrs H P Thompson.

Order of Business—J I Parrish, E Hays, Chas Handley.

Ways and Means—P O Buford, — Brownson, Mrs Hays.

W R Stewart was elected Chaplain and John Scriber was elected Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Union adjourned to 7½ o'clock P M.

EVENING SESSION

The Union met pursuant to adjournment. Minutes read and adopted.

Rev N Doane offered a resolution making some changes in the Constitution of the Union. Referred.

Mr Kelly offered a resolution in regard to a temperance paper, which was referred to Committee on Resolutions.

The hour for five minute speeches having arrived, Rev J Hoberg, J W Watts and Mrs [illegible] The latter read a very interesting [illegible]

The Union then adjourned.

Second Day—Morning Session

SALEM Sept 16 1874

The Union was called to order by the President and opened with prayer by the Rev G C Chandler.

The Committee on Resolutions made a report recommending that a committee be raised for the purpose of ascertaining the practicability of establishing a temperance organ. Adopted.

C Kelly and M Hosford offered a resolution asking the Legislature to pass a Local Option law and allow females over 18 years to vote on that subject. Referred.

A series of resolutions were offered asking the Legislature to pass a Local Option law. Referred to Committee on Resolutions.

After some desultory discussion the Union adjourned until 1:30 o'clock.

Afternoon Session

The Union met pursuant to adjournment.

The Committee on Legislation made a report that they petition the Legislature to pass a Local Option law and a Civil Damage law, and that a bill be prepared by the Union and presented for legislative action.

A report of the Committee on Legislation recommended that the Temperance Star be designated as the Temperance organ.

The Committee on Political Organization recommended that a committee be raised to be designated as the Central Committee, who shall use their best efforts in the Temperance cause.

The following officers were elected: Rev W R Stewart, President; Miss J S Riggs, Vice President; R Reid, Secretary; F Turner, Assistant Secretary; Mrs M E Hoxter, Corresponding Secretary; John Scriber, Sergeant-at-Arms.

On motion the election of the Board of Directors was postponed.

There is considerable interest manifested in the meeting.

A SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.—Blooming Grove, Penn, Aug 29, 1874.—A young man named George Howell, of this place, on Thursday last went to Perch Pond, two miles from here and near the western boundary of the Blooming Grove Park, to hunt wild ducks. A little brother four or five years old accompanied him. While they were floating in a boat in the pond a duck flew by them. Howell turned quickly in the boat to see where the bird rested. The suddenness of the motion upset the boat and its inmates were thrown into the water. Howell went to the bottom and never came to the surface. His little brother by some means managed to climb on the upturned boat. He drifted about the pond all day, being unable to effect a landing. About dark the wind blew the boat into the inlet of the pond and the boy waded ashore and made his way home through the woods, where he announced the drowning of his brother. A party of men reached the pond about midnight and were guided to the spot where Howell was drowned. With the aid of lanterns the body was found. It was in an erect position, the feet being stuck in the mud, where the unfortunate young man had been held until he was dead.

The University at Salem commenced the second week of the fall term with 163 students.

A FULL GROWN LITIGANT LAW.

Chas. H. Hardin, the Haystack Confederate who stands at the head of the Fossil Ticket in Missouri, has a record which threatens to give him exceeding great annoyance in his "struggles" to reach the Governorship. Away back in those halcyon days when the Democratic majority in Missouri were subsisting on a vegetable diet in the bush, Mr. Hardin was a State Senator. He had a friend, Neidner by name, who wanted to start a large newspaper on a small capital. There was but one way in which to do it: that was to make the State pay for it. So Hardin became the author and champion of a bill "to establish a uniform system of publishing notices of judicial sales and other legal notices in St. Louis county, State of Missouri," which was simply an act to authorize a contract to be made with Neidner, for twenty years, for the exclusive publication of the business of the Courts in the county named. Under this act the impecunious contractor at once began the publication. The contract ran for two or three years, until a Republican Legislature repealed it. The scepter of political power passed out of the hands of Democracy, and Niedner went into the Confederate service. Hardin, like one or two Northern Democrats, was enrolled at the same time among the Haystack Confederates—those who sympathized with the South during the Rebellion, served the Confederacy in fat civil offices, perhaps, but never fought for it.

For seven or eight years nothing was heard of Niedner or his job. While his remarkable litigant act was in force he realized a large fortune, which seems to have disappeared in the last ditch. But in 1871, the Democratic majority having come out of the bush, and the late differences having been composed, he again appeared before the Legislature of Missouri, prepared to clasp hands across the bloodless haystack and join with his party brethren in another newspaper enterprise. Hardin was again a member of the Senate. When a bill was introduced which provided for a re-enactment of the old law and "to provide for the payment of the damages caused by the unauthorized repeal of the former act." In other words, the people of Missouri were asked to pay Niedner for his services in behalf of the Lost Cause after the contract with him had been annulled. This extraordinary bill actually passed the Senate, the Judiciary Committee through their Chairman, Hardin, having reported favorably. Hardin voted for the bill. The St. Louis Republican attacked it as "the most infamous of all jobs that have been pressed upon the present legislature," "a bill to start a new paper in St. Louis by giving it ten years' monopoly of the legal printing," and "one of the baldest, boldest swindles ever brought to the attention of a legislative body." Perhaps the Republican was not actuated by motives of public spiritedness and economy in this violent opposition, for to-day it is supporting the author and champion of the original measure, [illegible] the bill was "a local measure, supported by a majority of the St. Louis delegation, and it was not to be expected that Mr. Hardin should fully understand its character." The Democrat thinks the people of Missouri will hardly elect Hardin with these damaging disclosures unexplained.

A GOOD MAN'S INTENTIONS.

General Butler is the good man of the house — the Boston Custom-House, of course—and he has made another speech, this time to "his immediate personal followers" who comprise the Butler Club, of Boston. The burden of his address is that he wants to be let alone. He is a wayward sister who would like to "go (to Congress) in peace." He holds that the Southern troubles are of great national significance; so great that it is the duty of Massachusetts to return her Republican delegation unbroken for another term. Looking at his own re-election from the highest altitude of patriotism, he declares that the electors of his district should be permitted to decide without "outsiders' meddling." If he is "let alone, he will not interfere with the aspirations of other candidates;" but if the untutored rabble outside of his district attempt to oppose him, he "will not be answerable for what his friends may do elsewhere." The "forty-jackass mud-throwing power," by which elegant metaphor the Essex member describes the press, must give up one of their most inspiring themes. On these conditions the Hector of Back-Pay promises to avoid personalities and make a high-toned, honorable canvass. Let every "howling pack-er" keep silence that the country may see what Butler can do in that line.

General Emery, commanding United States forces in New Orleans, informs the War Department that the mere presence of troops in the South has lost its moral effect in repressing disturbances. It's about time the Southern people were getting accustomed to the armies of the United States. The disappearance of this "moral effect" is not to be wondered at when our troops cheer the insurgents who have overthrown the "lawfully-constituted authorities" of a State.

The President has gone to Long Branch, and it is not known what position the Administration will assume in relation to the Louisiana matter. Meanwhile, the New Orleans insurgents have laid aside their arms, and the machinery of the Penn government is in motion. The results of the insurrection appear to meet with general satisfaction—at least the silence of the telegraph on that point indicates as much.

The war in Louisiana appears to be at an end. It is a pleasant thought that so unpleasant a thing as a civil war is sometimes productive of good. If Louisiana must have a fight what better termination could the struggle have than the overthrow of the Kellogg usurpation?

The Louisiana revolutionists declare theirs is the only de facto government in the State. We suspect it is drawing it pretty strong to say there is any government there at all.

"Ex-Solicitor Banfield is going to practice law in San Francisco," says the Washington Chronicle. Now may the Lord have mercy on San Francisco!

FROM THE CAPITAL.

SALEM, September 16, 1874.

At noon yesterday, when I wrote, there was no perceptible indication of an agreement upon an organization of either house. All parties appeared as stubborn as ever, and all that could be discerned was that all were maneuvering for vantage ground. But on the assembling in the afternoon, the deadlock in the Senate was brought to an abrupt termination. Before a ballot was called, Mr. Myers rose and withdrew from the contest, at the same time placing in nomination Mr. Cochran, the temporary officer, who on the first ballot was elected. Most of the Independents voted with the Democrats. Senator Crystal voted for Cornelius, and two others voted blank. Mr. Cornelius was of all men most obnoxious to most of the Independents, besides there is a contest pending for his seat.

On the vote for Chief Clerk Mr. Crystal went with the Independents, and all voted for Syl. Simpson. Several of the Democrats made wry faces over the election of Simpson, as he was suspected of too strong affinity for the Independents. But his qualifications, both as to integrity and capability are of the very highest order, and while the Independents have a warm side for him, albeit he is generally reckoned a Democrat, he was chosen not on account of his politics, but on account of his fitness for the place.

For Assistant Clerk the Ring Republicans named C. C. Royce, and he was elected, the Independents voting with the Republicans, and the Democrats voting solid for their own candidate.

Robert Gurney, the Sergeant-at-Arms, is an Independent, and was elected mainly by the votes of the Independents and Ring Republicans. Mr. Gurney may be considered the father of the Independent movement. He was the President of the Douglas county meeting that issued the State call, and has been one of the most zealous and efficient advocates of the reform cause.

IN THE HOUSE.

There was nothing done in the afternoon, except balloting a couple of times for Speaker, with the same result as before. After the adjournment till this morning, the labors of the Third House were prosecuted with redoubled energy, and wind-work of an organization was performed over and over again, with divers and sundry variations to meet emergencies. An effort was made by the Ring Republicans to form a coalition with the Democrats to elect the Democratic candidate, but without success. The Bourbons were afraid of the effect of such an alliance on the popular mind. Then the Ring Republicans proposed to the Independents to throw Drain overboard, and select some other Independent, to be elected by a combination of Independents and Ring Republicans; but this alliance was rejected. The Independents saw in it a trick to get up dissensions in their ranks; and they were not caught by the lure. They thought the wise course was to follow Mr. Lincoln's famous precept: "never try to swap horses in the middle of a stream." They offered, however, as they had always been willing to organize on an equitable basis, to come to an agreement with both the other parties, by which that party having the highest number of members should take the Speakership, the next highest the Chief Clerk, and the lowest the Assistant Clerk. This fair proposition the Democrats expressed, through their Committee, a willingness to accept, but the Ring Republicans, still having hopes of being able to form a coalition with one of the other parties, and trip up the third, refused to consider even so just and reasonable a plan. Some of the Independents, however, appeared to be determined to carry out the plan at all events, by so casting their votes for the several offices as to bring about this result, while others insisted that the proper course under the circumstances was for the Independents to put up their own candidates and vote for them, and if the other parties wanted to combine against them, let them do so, and go back to the people on the record thus made up. It seemed to me this was the only course to be pursued after the proposition to divide equally all around had been rejected. I had no doubt, that by this course the election of both Drain and Parrish would be secured, and in fact I had assurances from both Democrats and Ring Republicans that they were tired of foolishness, and [illegible] acted on generally, they would feel themselves at liberty to break ranks and put an end to the wrangling by electing our candidate. Subsequent events showed these assurances were not intended merely to deceive; for when this morning the election of Speaker was proceeded with, Mr. Drain, the Independent's candidate, received, in addition to the strength of his own party, several Democratic and Ring Republican votes, and was elected by a handsome majority; and Parrish, for Chief Clerk, received quite enough Ring Republican votes to have elected him, with a nice margin to spare, had not his own party cast him overboard in their desire to do the generous by forcing through the identical plan of division that had been proposed by them and rejected. The tally, when the votes were counted, demonstrated the correctness of the views of those Independents who insisted upon standing by their own candidate. The vote of the Independents was divided between Parrish and White, the Republicans were divided between Parrish and Patterson; and the Democrats went in a body for White, electing him over Parrish, who was undoubtedly the first choice of a large majority of the members. There was considerable feeling for a time over this vote. Doubtless the Independents who gave up their candidate just when, as the vote showed, he could have been elected easily, did it fully believing it was the best and safest thing to be done. Their motives are not to be called in question. Their judgment was certainly bad.

The Ring Republicans and Independents united to elect A. E. Borthwick, formerly Deputy Clerk of Multnomah county, Assistant Clerk of the House.

Now followed the ceremony of swearing in the newly elected officers, the choosing of engrossing and enrolling clerks, and the various other subordinate officers. I did not remain to witness these interesting exercises.

I am told of a passage at arms that took place in the Senate, and in which Senator Bristow drew

THE FIRST BLOOD

Of the Session. It is related to have occurred in this wise: Senator Bristow, after the permanent organization was completed, made the usual motion, that the Sergeant-at-Arms be directed to procure for each member four newspapers to be selected by the members. Mr. Dolph, who by the way has been reading newspapers in the Senate for a number of years under exactly similar motions, rose and objected, saying he was opposed to any such extravagance, and, furthermore, that he had about come to the conclusion that newspapers were of no value anyhow, whereupon Bristow replied, that "in view of what the newspapers had brought to light within the last year or two, he was not at all surprised that a gentleman belonging to the political party with which the Senator from Multnomah is identified should be unable to appreciate the newspaper press." Mr. Dolph of course went down before this blow; but Bristow, following up his advantage, added, in the blandest manner imaginable, that, out of consideration for the feelings of the Senator from Multnomah, he would withdraw the motion. They do say that last shot put the Senator from Multnomah out of his misery instantaneously.

LEADERS.

It is always asked at the formation of the Legislature, who are to be the leaders of the respective parties. It is not difficult to select the leaders of the Senate. The Ring Republicans will be led by Cornelius, with Mr. Dolph and Mr. J. F. Watson right and left supporters. Bristow or VanCleave, with extensive experience, will lead the Independents, with lieutenants of excellent talent. The straight Democrats look to Myers of Clackamas for leadership.

In the House it is not yet apparent who will come forward. Reed, of Marion, and Chambers, of Benton, will be rivals for the chieftaincy, with odds in favor of the latter. Reed is careful, thoughtful, a good man; but Chambers is more withey and possibly more fertile.

The Democrats expect much of Fidler, and probably not very much of anybody else. It may be seen, however, when they come down to business, there are others ready to contest the first position.

The education of Stott and Gearin, of Multnomah, being of that kind that is supposed to fit them peculiarly for the forum, they are naturally more looked to than those of the Independents whose education has been in other directions. They are both new members, however, and as yet untried.

H.

A Democratic member of the House who makes his living by talking, has tied his mouth up with a string, so determined is he not to make speech where there are no fees to be had for it. Before the season is half way through it will be apparent that many others would have made quite as good members if they had done likewise.

Let the litigant law be repealed immediately. It ought not require a very long time to draw a bill for the purpose, and it ought not to take long to pass it.

The first move of the Democrats in the House was an attempt to change the name of Mr. Fidler to Mr. Speaker. It did not succeed.

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 17, 1874.

CITY.

COLLISION.—A serious collision occurred yesterday morning at Astoria between the steamers Beaver and Emma Hayward, in which both boats were more or less damaged. The ship Middlesex, which was lying opposite the town, was also considerably damaged. As to the cause of the collision, there are two accounts, [illegible] Capt. Hoyt, of the Emma Hayward, claims that it was no fault of his, that the Beaver attempted to pass in between his boat and the Middlesex, and got jammed; that it was a piece of reckless work on the part of the Beaver in attempting to run between. Capt. Wilson, of the Beaver, on the contrary, states that the Hayward backed into his boat, where it could have been easily avoided; that he gave Capt. Hoyt the signal in time for him to have stopped his boat; that the signal was not answered, and the boat crowded the Beaver over against the Middlesex. We are not prepared at present to say which version of the accident is the correct one, and cannot state who was at fault. That one or both of the captains were to be blamed, there is no doubt. The Hayward escaped with comparatively slight damage, only a small portion of the wheel-housing being carried away. The Beaver was very badly used up, [illegible]. Both sides of the deck staging and walls were torn away for some distance, [illegible]. From appearances, it will require a considerable sum of money to repair the damage done the Beaver. The Middlesex did not escape, either, [illegible] of her stern rigging was torn away. These damages will doubtless be adjusted by litigation.

A MATTER OF CORRECTNESS.—One "P. McKay, contractor," publishes a card in the morning contemporary in which he denies the correctness of an item that appeared in Tuesday's issue of the OREGONIAN, [illegible] "P. McKay, contractor," called on us and made it plain that we had committed [illegible] the item in question, we should cheerfully have made the necessary correction. As he failed to do so, we would like to ask the signer of the card the following questions: 1st. Did not Mr. Wheeler go down the river to Point Adams a few days since? 2d. Did he not, while there, inspect the materials collected, and also the work [illegible] at the new lighthouse. 3d. What was the object of such inspection, unless [illegible] contractors to obtain money on the work and materials? Our item contained these statements, [illegible] we maintain that we simply [illegible] to the truth, the signer of the card and to the contrary notwithstanding.

MR. BRADFORD'S LECTURE.—The [illegible] of Rev. Mr. Bradford's second lecture drew out a large and cultured audience last evening at the First Congregational Church. His subject was [illegible] Webfoot, and was handled in [illegible] manner, greatly to the instruction and amusement of his many listeners. It is impossible to give a [illegible] of the lecture owing to the crowded state of our columns, [illegible] to say that the lecture was [illegible] interest, and was listened to throughout with [illegible] by the numerous [illegible]. [illegible] at Salem to-morrow evening. It will be a rare treat which the public of that town will thoroughly enjoy.

CHURCH EDIFICE.—St. Luke's Church, Vancouver, was so far completed more than a year ago, as to be in condition for use, yet it is far from being finished. [illegible] foundation was [illegible] of the wooden blocks upon which it stood were first laid. [illegible] put on the sides; but the [illegible] nor the windows cased. This [illegible] parish desire to do before the [illegible] winter. Remembering the severity of last winter, they will make a vigorous effort [illegible] to complish the much desired work [illegible] would be sufficient to render the church comfortable for the approaching winter.

ANNIVERSARY BANQUET.—The [illegible] Mystic Lodge, No. 2, will celebrate the [illegible] anniversary of its institution as a Lodge, [illegible] at the [illegible] of its members, [illegible] Chancellor Bell will give a brief history of the origin and history of the Order, which will no doubt, be found interesting [illegible] The members have invited a number of their friends to attend, and no doubt a pleasant sociable time will be had.

CIRCUS COMING.—The San Francisco Circus and Palace Amphitheater, [illegible] & Co. proprietors, is now en route for Portland. The combination is expected to arrive here about Monday next, by way of the [illegible] Opening performance will probably be given about Wednesday. A number of [illegible] attractions are promised. [illegible] Mr. Oscar Griffith, Advance Agent, is now in the city.

COMMON COUNCIL.—The requisite number of this body, to do business, minus one was present last night and those in attendance, Mayor Failing, Auditor Caldwell, Chief Lappeus and Councilmen Catlin, Corbett, Lyon and Story did about the only thing they could do, adjourned, but with the determination to meet again on Friday evening, September 18th, at the usual hour.

EAST PORTLAND IMPROVEMENTS.—Mr. J. N. Lawrence has purchased a lot of Dr. Hawthorne at the corner of I. and Fourth streets, and has commenced to grade it down to the [illegible] of the street. As soon as the grading is finished he proposes to erect a building [illegible] feet, two stories in height. The lower story will be occupied by himself for purposes of trade.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, September 16, 1874:

[illegible]

TRIAL TRIP.—The new steamer Ohio, built by Capt. Scott, made the trial trip yesterday. With colors gaily streaming the little craft went down the river as far as the mouth of the Willamette, and returned. Everything worked like a charm.

FARE.—By reference to the new advertisement of the O. S. N. Co., it will be seen that hereafter they will carry passengers between Portland and the Dalles at the following rates: Cabin passengers, $5; deck passengers, $2 50.

JURY DISCHARGED.—In the United States District Court, the jury in the case of U. S. vs. L. H. Atkins, the jury failed to agree, after a long deliberation, and were discharged by the court.

"WHAT IS IT?"—No description we could give you of that remarkable animal in the Museum would satisfy you or do justice to the thing itself. [illegible]

THE FIRST BILL PASSED BY THE LEGISLATURE [illegible] unanimously selected Bock & Waldman for keeping the finest, best and largest stock of clothing in the city of Portland, and at 25 per cent. less than any other house. Call and see for yourself.

There is a red, white and blue bird in the Museum—advertised as a genuine bilk. The cotton inside is real. Put up in Salem, and is a first-class humbug of course.

Kohn's clerks were busy yesterday in arranging the new stock of Boys' apparel. [illegible]

COLLISION.—A serious collision occurred yesterday morning at Astoria between the steamers Beaver and Fannie Hayward in which both boats were more or less damaged. The ship Middlesex which was lying opposite the town was also considerably damaged. As to the cause of the collision there are two accounts as might reasonably be expected. Capt Hoyt of the Fannie Hayward claims that it was no fault of his; that the Beaver attempted to pass in between his boat and the Middlesex and got jammed; that it was a piece of reckless work on the part of the Beaver in attempting to run in there. Capt Wilson of the Beaver on the contrary states that the Hayward backed into him; that it could have been easily avoided; that he gave Capt Hoyt the signal in time for him to have stopped his boat; that the signal was not answered and the boat crowded the Beaver over against the Middlesex. We are not prepared at present to say which version of the accident is the correct one, and we cannot state who was most at fault. That one or both of the captains were to be blamed, there is no doubt. The Hayward escaped with comparatively slight damages, only a small portion of the wheel housing being carried away. The Beaver was very badly used up, having been raked by each vessel. Both sides of the deck staging and walls were torn away for some distance and the boat otherwise jammed. From appearances it will require a considerable sum of money to repair the damage done the Beaver. The Middlesex did not escape either, as some of her stern rigging was torn away. These damages will doubtless be adjusted by litigation.

A MATTER OF CORRECTNESS.—One P McKay, contractor, publishes a card in the morning cotemporary in which he denies the correctness of an item that appeared in Tuesday's issue of the OREGONIAN. Had the said P McKay, contractor, called on us and made it plain that we had committed errors in the item in question, we should cheerfully have made the necessary correction. As he failed to do so we would like to ask the signer of the card the following questions: 1st. Did not Mr Wheeler go down the river to Point Adams a few days since? 2d. Did he not while there inspect the materials collected, and also the work which has been done at the new lighthouse? 3d. What was the object of such inspection unless it was for the contractors to obtain money on the work and materials? Our item contained these statements, and as it was based on authentic information we maintain that we simply confined ourselves to the truth, the signer of the said card to the contrary notwithstanding.

MR. BRADFORD'S LECTURE.—The announcement of Rev Mr Bradford's second lecture drew out a large and refined audience last evening at the First Congregational Church. His subject was "A Jerseyman Among the Webfeet," and was handled in serio-ludicrous manner greatly to the instruction and amusement of his many listeners. It is impossible to give a meagre outline of the lecture owing to the crowded state of our columns. Suffice it to say that the lecture was replete with interest and was listened to throughout with keen relish by the numerous audience. Mr Bradford we learn will deliver this last lecture at Salem to-morrow evening. It will be a rare treat which the public of that town will thoroughly enjoy.

CHURCH BUILDING.—St Luke's Church, Vancouver, was so far completed more than a year ago, as to be in condition for use, yet it was far from being finished. Last autumn a brick foundation was put under the building in place of the wooden blocks upon which the sills were first laid. A little later the ceiling was put on the sides but the arch was not ceiled nor the windows cased. This latter work the [illegible] desire to do before the approach of winter. Remembering the discomforts of last winter they will make a vigorous effort to accomplish this much desired work. About [illegible] will be sufficient to render the building [illegible] for the approaching winter.

K. OF P. RECEPTION.—This evening, Mystic Lodge No 2, will celebrate the first anniversary of its institution as a Lodge and, at the request of its members Deputy Supreme Chancellor Bell will give a brief review of the origin and history of the Order which will no doubt, be found interesting to those present. The members have invited a number of their friends to attend, and no doubt a pleasant and social time will be had.

CIRCUS COMING.—The San Francisco Circus and Palace Amphitheater, Katie Halloway & Co proprietors, is now en route for Portland. The combination is expected to arrive here about Monday next by way of the Sound. The first performance will probably be given on Wednesday. A number of startling attractions are promised. Full particulars in a few days. Mr Oscar Griffith, Advance Agent, is now in the city.

COMMON COUNCIL.—The requisite number of this body to do business minus one was present last night and those in attendance being Mayor Failing, Auditor Caldwell, Chief Lappeus and Councilmen Catlin, Corbett, Lyon and Story did about the only thing they could do, adjourned, but with the determination to meet again on Friday evening September 25th, at the usual hour.

EAST PORTLAND IMPROVEMENTS.—Mr J N Lawson has purchased a lot of Dr Hawthorne at the corner of L and Fourth streets, and has commenced to grade it down to the level of the street. As soon as the grading is finished he proposes to erect a building 25x60 feet, two stories in height. The lower story will be occupied by himself for purposes of trade.

TRIAL TRIP.—The new steamer Ohio built by Capt. Scott, made the trial trip yesterday. With colors gaily streaming the little craft went down the river as far as the mouth of the Wallamet and returned. Everything worked like a charm.

FARE.—By reference to the new advertisement of the O S N Co., it will be seen that hereafter they will carry passengers between Portland and the Dalles at the following rates: Cabin passengers $5; deck passengers $2 50.

JURY DISCHARGED.—In the United States District Court, the jury in the case of U S vs. L H Atkins the jury failed to agree after a long deliberation and were discharged by the Court.

"WHAT IS IT?"—No description we could give you of that remarkable animal in the Museum would satisfy you or do justice to the thing itself. It has a bushy tail, long and rather wooly coating of the body, long wall eyes, broad drooping ears, very large skull, [illegible] the upper portion, nose very short, mouth resembling a full blooded bull dog, beard [illegible] one and two inches long, body very [illegible] inches in diameter and very short, (30 inches long.) The height of the animal is not over 10 inches. It has cloven feet. The face looks as much like a human face as anything else.

THE FALL BILL PASSED BY THE LEGISLATURE unanimously selected Beck & Waldman for keeping the finest, best and largest stock of clothing in the city of Portland and at 20 per cent less than any other house. Call and see for yourself.

There is a red white and blue bird in the Museum—advertised as a genuine bird. The cotton inside is real. Put up in Salem and is a first-class humbug, of course.

Kohn's clerks were busy yesterday in arranging the new stock of Boys' apparel. In the new display fond parents can find anything to fit their little boys—be they young or old. In addition to the above a fine assortment of Gents suits, Furnishing Goods etc. have been opened. Mr Kohn [illegible] selections during his [illegible] San Francisco. Call to-day and you will find everything as [illegible].

LEGISLATION FOR THE CITY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN,

By reading the proceedings of the Legislature I see they seem to have some difficulty in perfecting a permanent organization and our Senator from this county, the Hon J N Dolph, from his technical course as to parliamentary laws seems to clog the wheels of legislation by every available means he can bring to bear. The late firm of Mitchell & Dolph have been represented in the Legislature of this State for a number of years by suffrage of the legal voters (?) of this county and I now ask the taxpayers of Multnomah county and also the taxpayers of the State of Oregon to point out any particular measure that has been presented by those men that is of any particular advantage to the people of this county or to the people of Oregon at large.

What legislation, I ask, are the people in want of at the present time? We want a lien law. We want some legislation to protect our fisheries. We want the law in reference to fees for the compensation of Sheriffs and Clerks of certain counties amended in many particulars. We want the charter of the city of Portland so amended that the taxpayers through their representatives (the Common Council) can say what compensation the Police Judge shall have for his services, and also what number of men shall be employed upon the police force and the amount of their compensation. The charter of the city of Portland is very defective in the matter of opening, laying out and widening streets and alleys and should be amended in this particular.

According to an official report of W S Caldwell, Auditor and Clerk of the City of Portland, the Police force of this city for the year A D 1873 cost the people of this city and county the enormous sum of $36,000 and upwards, and out of this amount the Police Judge and the Chief of Police received over ten thousand dollars during the year 1873. Section 160 of the Charter of the City reads as follows:

"The Police Judge shall receive an annual salary payable quarterly not exceeding eighteen hundred dollars and not to be reduced during his term of office, which salary shall be fixed by ordinance by the Common Council and paid out of the City Treasury as other salaries are paid and he shall receive no other compensation for his services." Section 156 of the Charter says the Police Judge has the jurisdiction and authority of a justice of the peace for the county of Multnomah within the limits of the City of Portland in criminal matters, and shall be subject to the general laws of the State, &c. The words 'criminal matters' in the foregoing section the Supreme Court of the State of Oregon decided unconstitutional and void (State vs Wiley, September 1871). And also the suit brought by the City of Portland against O N Denny for retaining moneys that came into his hands as acting justice of the peace the Supreme Court decided in this month against the city and in favor of O N Denny, thereby allowing him to retain over five thousand dollars a year more than section 160 of the Charter as cited aforesaid. The Chief of Police retains a similar amount and in direct violation of the Charter under the two decisions of the Supreme Court of Oregon. Now it remains to be seen if any of the Multnomah county members of the Legislature will perfect the law at this session or will they sit quietly in their seats and see the people of this county robbed out of fifteen thousand dollars annually more than the makers of the law contemplated?

FROM PUGET SOUND

SEATTLE, Sep 1[illegible], 1871

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Having had business to transact in the Grand Lodge of Good Templars which met at Port Townsend in the beginning of the week I think I may as well give you some items with regard to that part of our Territory.

PORT TOWNSEND

Is a place of about 700 inhabitants, of which about one half are children, most of whom are laboring under that most unfortunate of all diseases—whooping cough. The lower or business part of the city is built upon the beach and consists of the Custom House, hotels, saloons, wholesale liquor houses and variety stores. The upper part of town is built on a bluff about 100 feet above high water mark and consists principally of schools, churches and private houses. From the western portion of this bluff a grand view is to be obtained of the town and Port Townsend. Whidby Island, the lighthouse nightly performing its duties as watchman of the deep, the coast range, the vessels in the harbor, all add beauty to a scene which cannot easily be surpassed by any other town on our Northwest Coast. The bluff is crowned with a dense new growth of pine, fir and maple trees which gives it the appearance of a park, and contains many shaded walks where lovers may resort. Port Townsend is the port of entry for Washington Territory and its shipping interests make a large business in the town which would otherwise be very dull. There is a military post situated about three or four miles from town in which one or two companies are stationed, with a prospect of more in the future.

GRAND LODGE.

The number of delegates in attendance on the Grand Lodge I O G T was about 20 besides many visitors and during the session a large amount of business was transacted while the state of the Order appeared to give great satisfaction to those present. The following officers were installed to serve for the ensuing year: I B Hastings, G W C T; S D Willis, G Chap; J N Gale, G W S; J Chilberg, G Treas; Ebe Pearson, G D M; J Stillman, Sentinel; Geo C Burnett, G W Coun; S D Maxon, I G W C T; J Baker, G A S; F Goyot, G M; Sister Phillips, G I G; Allen Baker, G Messenger.

One of the most important measures brought before the Grand Lodge was the formation of Cold Water Temples for the benefit of children and it is hoped that with proper care it may become a successful institution.

Resolutions were also passed thanking the various railroad and steamboat companies &c for courtesies extended to delegates while on their way to the Grand Lodge.

Starting about 9 A M on the steamer North Pacific, Capt Starr, we reached

PORT GAMBLE

About noon where we found the Phelps troupe en route for Seattle, besides a number of ladies and gentlemen among whom we noticed Mrs Capt Hill, Mrs Dr Hemmilaway, Mrs Ingall, Mr Schrader and others who passed the time between Gamble and Seattle in singing glees, choruses and other music to the gratification of all on board.

Port Gamble is a small town but is said to contain the largest sawmill in the world and from the crowded houses which greeted Mrs Phelps each night there must evidently be a large number of hands employed by Messrs Pope and Talbot.

Next comes Port Madison, a small milling town also where business seems rather dull, and about 3 30 P M we steamed up to the wharf at

SEATTLE

Which in our estimation has more the appearance of a city than any other town on the Sound. There was a crowd of probably 200 people on the wharf to meet us as we landed and as we walked up we could see that the inhabitants were on business bent, having hardly time to say "how are you?" Court was sitting when we arrived but from the smallness of the docket I presume it will close to-day.

Mrs Phelps with Mr and Mrs Stone and a large troupe played "The Pearl of Savoy" to a crowded house last evening and seemed to give great satisfaction. The play for this evening is "The Hidden Hand" or "Life in the South" and on Monday evening "Ogarita," after which the troupe will play in Steilacoom, Olympia and Tacoma on their way to Portland.

The rain that has fallen during this week has been considerable, and rather unusual for this time of the year and I fear that great harm will result from it in various parts of our Territory.

The old Seattle coal mine is now closed as they are laying down a track instead of the old fashioned tramway formerly in use and it is expected that in about six weeks the Company will be able to open the mine again.

The Seattle and Walla Walla Railroad is progressing and already fourteen miles of the road is graded and iron will be placed on four miles at an early day.

The Occidental Hotel, one of the finest on the Sound, is carried on in good style by Mr Collins, who uses every endeavor to make his guests as comfortable as possible.

Trusting you will excuse my trespassing so much on your valuable space I am yours

A Horse was once called for and a kingdom offered for it. But a horse is almost as delicate as a child. He requires the greatest care and is subject to a large variety of diseases, external and internal, which destroy his money value and his usefulness as a domestic animal. The MEXICAN LINIMENT, which is so widely and favorably known throughout the world, won its success from the permanent relief it afforded to the horses. There is not a stable man who does not keep it handy for sprains, strains, gall and other injuries to which horse flesh is liable.

Many Ladies flush terribly at every little surprise. Red in the cheeks is good, but red up to the roots of the hair and down to the neck of the dress is too much of a good thing. This flush is caused by heat, excitement and sometimes by fatigue. The use of HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM is always beneficial in restoring the equilibrium of the system. It cools the skin and induces quietude. It imparts a genial uniformity of temperature and is altogether a most valuable toilet article.

THE IRISH BULL

THE CONFUSION WHICH IS SUPPOSED TO REIGN IN THE HIBERNIAN MIND

The Irish have achieved a great celebrity in the matter of bulls and blunders. By the uninitiated these are terms which are constantly confounded, but when they are looked into it will be seen there is the greatest difference between them. Blundering arises from stupidity, and the stupid are a race who are found all over the world; but the bull—a peculiarity that belongs exclusively to Ireland—is always connected with thought and originative power of its people. It is not all a dull absurdity which no one can comprehend—it is always comprehensible even when it is most confused. It proceeds not from want but the superabundance of ideas, which crowd on each other so fast in an Irishman's pericranium that they get jammed together, so to speak, in the doorway of his speech, and only tumble out in their ordinary disorder.

Confusion may, indeed, be called a national characteristic. It pervades all Irish history. If the stream of the latter in early days has its gleams of bright tranquility, sorely troubled does it become as it descends the steeps of time, till, as it flows on in the latter ages, it encounters obstructions, political and religious, which give it turmoil and perplexity which we cannot survey without deploring. As with the affairs of unhappy Ireland, so has it ever been with the personality. Public and social disorders have communicated a jar to the brains of Pat, and if he can be accused now and then of being a little erratic in his sayings and doings, he can at least console himself by pointing to a long historical authority. He may say:

"Arrah! now why wouldn't I be confused? Wasn't all of us confused, and from the airliest times, and isn't a man to be consistent? Would you have him turn his coat when scarcely a rag of it is left him?"

A good example of a bull may be cited in the case of two Irishmen who, fancying that they knew each other, crossed the street to shake hands. On discovering their error—

"I beg your pardon," cried the one.

"Oh, don't mention it," said the other. "It's a mutual mistake, you see. I thought it was you, and you thought it was me, and after all it was neither of us."

A good pendant to this is told of two friends who met and referred to the illness of a third:

"Poor Michael Hegan! Faith, I'm afraid he's going to die."

"And why would he die?"

"Oh, he's got so thin!" "You're thin enough, and I'm thin, but, by my sowl, Michael Hegan is thinner than both of us put together."

A bull is sometimes produced by the false use of a word, as in the case of an Irish watchman giving evidence at a police office:

"What is this man's offense?"

"He was disorderly, your worship, in the streets last night."

"And did you give him warning before you took him into custody?"

"I did, your worship. I said to him, 'disperse!'"

Again, a bull may be occasioned by a confusion of identities, as when it was said of an ugly man that he was handsome when an infant, but he was unluckily changed at nurse; or as it was shown in the fervor of a girl who, desiring her lover's miniature, and he fearing it might lead to discovery—

"Oh, it needn't," she exclaimed; "I'll tell the painter not to make it like you!"

And again, a bull may be owing to a limited amount of knowledge, as in the case of an old woman going to the chandler's for a farthing candle, and being told it was raised to a half penny on account of the Russian war—

"Bad luck to them!" she exclaimed; "and do they fight by candle light?"

Apart, however, from all of these, the ordinary sayings of the Irish have an imaginative quality which is just as characteristic and not at all confusing. As for instance, when they say of a man who is irretrievably ruined, "Saltpetre wouldn't save him," and that is "a strong pickle," or when they would advise another to avoid arrest: "Be off while your shoes are good," or as they delicately say of an elderly lady whose age they forbear to mention: "A kitten of her age wouldn't play with a cork."

And apart from all these, again, is the genuine humor of the Irish, which has nothing of the bull in it whatever, but on the contrary the clever[illegible] and very often the shrewd[illegible]. I will only cite a couple of instances, which will not be the less welcome if they happen to have been heard before.

A gentleman seeing an Irishman staggering homeward from a fair observed to him:

"Ah, Darby, I'm afraid you'll find the road you're going is rather a longer one than you think."

"Sure, your honor," he replied, "it's not the length of the road that I care about, it's the breadth of it is destroyin' me."

And again, in the bog of Aughrim, in the last century, plenty of gun barrels used to be found as a memento of its great battle, and there was a blacksmith who dug them up in order to make use of their material. On one occasion one of them exploded in his furnace, when he exclaimed:

"Bad luck to your love of murther! isn't the battle of Aughrim out of you yet?"

BULLS NOT IRISH

It was a Scotchwoman who said that the butcher of her town only killed half a beast at a time. It was a Dutchman who said that a pig had no marks on his ears except a short tail, and it was a British magistrate who, being told by a vagabond that he was not married, responded, "That's a good thing for your wife." It was an English reporter who stated, at a meeting of the Ethnological Society there was exhibited "casts of the skull of an individual at different periods of adult life, to show the changes produced in ten years," though Dean Swift certainly mentions two skulls preserved in Ireland, one of a person when he was a boy, and the other of the same person when he grew to be a man. It was a Portuguese mayor who enumerated among the marks by which the body of a drowned man might be identified when found, "a marked impediment in his speech." It was a Frenchman, the famous Carlino, who, contentedly laying his head upon a large stone jar for a pillow, replied to one who inquired if it was not rather hard: "Not at all, for I've stuffed it with hay." It was an American lecturer who solemnly said one evening: "Parents, you may have children, or if not, your daughters may have." And it was a German orator who, warming with his subject, exclaimed: "There is no man, woman or child in the house who has arrived at the age of fifty years, but what has felt this truth thundering through their minds for centuries."

SAWING A "SARATOGA"

THE JOKE OF A STAGE DRIVER

Hank Monk, the stage driver who gave Horace Greeley his memorable mountain ride, in common with all his tribe, hates the sight of those ponderous specimens of architecture in the trunk line known as the "Saratoga bandbox." He likes a "Saratoga" about as well as a cat likes hot soup. He now drives on the stage line between Carson City and Lake Tahoe. He was driving on the same line last summer. A Virginia lady who was stopping at the Glenbrook House had a "Saratoga" at Carson which she wished brought up to the lake. It was about as long and wide as a first-class spring mattress, and seven or eight feet high. The lady had managed to get it as far as Carson by rail, but the trouble was to get it up into the mountains. Hank had promised two or three times to bring it up "next trip," but always arrived without it. At last Hank drove up one evening, and as usual the lady came out upon the veranda to ask if he had brought her trunk. Like that great and good man George, Hank cannot tell a lie, and so he said:

"No, ma'am, I haven't brought it, but I think some of it will be up by the next stage."

"Some of it!" cried the lady.

"Yes, maybe half it, or such a matter."

"Half of it!" groaned the horrified owner of the Saratoga.

"Yes, half to-morrow and the rest next day or the day after."

"Why, how in the name of common sense can they bring half of it?"

"Well, when I left they were sawing it in two, and—"

"Sawing it in two! Sawing my trunk in two?"

"That was what I said," coolly answered Hank. "Two men with a big cross-cut saw were working down through it—about in the middle, I think."

"Sawing my trunk in two?—and all my best clothes in it! Sawing it in the middle!" And in a towering passion, she rushed indoors, threatening the hotel, the stage line, the railroad company, the town of Carson, and the State of Nevada with suits for damages. It was in vain that he was assured that there was no truth in the story of the sawing—that Monk was a great joker; she could not be made to believe but that her trunk had been sawed in two until it arrived intact and she had examined its contents most thoroughly.

Hank's "Saratoga" joke is still remembered at the Glenbrook House, but the ladies see no fun in the yarn.—Virginia City Enterprise.

LOCOMOTIVE CAPRICES.—It is perfectly well known to experienced engineers that if a dozen different locomotive engines were made at the same time, of the same power, for the same purpose, of like materials, in the same factory, each of these locomotives would come out with its own peculiar whims and ways, only ascertainable by experience. One engine will take a great deal of coal and water at once; another will not hear to such a thing, but insists on being coaxed by spadefuls and bucketfuls. One is disposed to start off when required at the top of his speed; another must have a time to warm at his work and to get well into it. These peculiarities are so accurately mastered by skillful drivers that only particular men can persuade engines to do their best. It would seem as if some of these excellent monsters declared on being brought from the stable: "If it's Smith who is to drive, I won't go; if it's my friend Stokes, I am agreeable to anything." All locomotive engines are low spirited in damp and foggy weather. They have a great satisfaction in their work when the air is crisp and frosty. At such a time they are very cheerful and brisk, but they strongly object to haze and mists. These are points of character on which they are united. It is in their peculiarities and varieties of character that they are the most remarkable.

MUST BE ABANDONED.—It has been published in this State that the soundings made by Commander Belknap on the United States steamer Tuscarora, had demonstrated the feasibility of the proposed route for a cable between the Pacific coast and Asia. This statement is not in accordance with the facts. Commander Belknap expresses the opinion that the project will have to be abandoned. The reasons he assigns for arriving at this conclusion are the extraordinary depth of water, bottom not having been found in places with five miles of wire, and the rapidity and force of submarine currents. The latter were so powerful as to mutilate the apparatus, and in many cases to snap the wires used in sounding. In making his report to the Secretary of the Navy, Commander Belknap expresses his belief that, although the proposed great circle route is a failure, the discoveries made by him will be of great value to hydrographic science, as establishing the fact that depths exist in the Pacific hardly before supposed. It is almost certain that a vast trough has been made by the Japan Stream similar to that worn by the Gulf Stream in the Atlantic.—S. F. Call.

RACHEL'S SECRET.—A correspondent of the Arcadian writes: "When I was in Paris I read in the Figaro an account of the villa at the Cannet, which was the scene of poor Rachel's death. It seems that in the corner of the bed chamber over a prie dieu chair is the inscription:

H
D M C
N C J

No one has ever been able to make out what it means. It was placed there by order of Rachel herself, and contains, so they say, the secret of her life. A gentleman, in a letter to the Figaro, says he possesses the secret and will reveal it as soon as the Figaro reappears, for, as you know, in consequence of its publication of the Comte de Chambord's letter, that paper is suspended for a fortnight. So we are obliged to remain in suspense about the mystery until the great gossip monger greets us once more."

MARSHAL BAZAINE THANKS AMERICAN JOURNALS.—New York, Sept. 11.—The Herald has received by cable a long communication from Marshal Bazaine, addressed to James Gordon Bennett, thanking the Herald in particular and American journals in general for the strong marks of sympathy he has received at their hands. In American journals he says he always found his best defenders and most impartial critics. He reviews the circumstances of his trial and conviction, and says he was made the expiatory victim for the faults of the French army and nation, but he will await the verdict of time and history.

Wheat in Liverpool by mail advices from San Francisco 10s 4d@10s 8d for average California, and 10s 8d@11s 4d for club.

The increased movement in the wheat market creates a little stronger demand for monetary favors than has been the rule here for some months past, but yet all prime paper offering at the banks is freely taken at the usual discount. Loanable funds are not in urgent request, and calls for that purpose are met at one per cent per month for large sums on one to four years' terms.

Shipping Intelligence.

A cargo of wheat recently purchased is rapidly going into the fine ship Orissa.

The bark Hermine has her cargo, except 50 tons, on board. She will receive the remainder at some point down the river.

The schooner Gotama has about completed the discharge of her inward cargo, and will receive return freight in a day or two.

The schooner Dreadnought arrived from San Francisco this morning, and is discharging her cargo at Central wharf.

The bark Marianne has drawn into the Gas Co's wharf and begun to discharge the remainder of her ballast preparatory to receiving her cargo of wheat, which is well nigh all engaged.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

THE NEW ORLEANS INSURRECTION.

The Merchants and Bankers of New Orleans to President Grant.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept 16.—The following dispatch was sent to President Grant to-day:

"A petition has been forwarded to you to-day by [illegible] signed by 300 leading merchants and business men of this city as follows: 'We, the undersigned merchants, representing the commercial interests of New Orleans, and deeply interested in the welfare and prosperity of the State, [illegible] the recent change of government and [illegible] impartial rights to all. We respectfully ask the sympathy and support of the Executive.'"

NEW ORLEANS, Sept 16.—The Presidents of the Chamber of Commerce, the Clearing House, the Cotton Exchange and Merchants' Exchange telegraphed President Grant to-day a statement that the city is perfectly quiet and peaceful, that business has resumed, and no further trouble is anticipated [illegible] of the Custom House [illegible] The Executive Committee of the Merchants' Exchange telegraphed a similar [illegible] to the Boards of Trade of Chicago, St Louis and Cincinnati.

[illegible], N. Y., Sept 17.—The [illegible] Convention reassembled in session this [illegible] and Governor Seymour from the Committee on Resolutions made the following report: [illegible] Democratic party of [illegible] to the principles [illegible] platform adopted last year at Utica, approved by the people of the Empire State and indorsed by the Democracy of Illinois, [illegible] Maine and other States of the Union. Gold and silver is the [illegible] and no step backward, honest payment of public debt [illegible] revenue reform, federal taxation [illegible] rule to limit and local [illegible] powers intrusted to public servants, municipal, and federal; no centralization, equal and exact justice to all men, [illegible] legislation [illegible] sumptuary laws [illegible] civil and [illegible] public lands by public officers [illegible] by the State always to be [illegible] the interest of the people [illegible] responsible for all [illegible] The Presidency is a [illegible] not a perquisite. There should be no third [illegible] in public [illegible] burdened. [illegible] of New York, in [illegible] the liberal [illegible] party, shall unite with [illegible] State and national [illegible] to the support and approval of all [illegible] of the convention.

The report was adopted. The ballot for Governor [illegible] J Parker [illegible] was made unanimous.

[illegible] Mail Steamship [illegible]

In consequence of rumors in [illegible] with regard to the affairs of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and criticisms upon the [illegible], at the request of Rufus Hatch, Managing Director, F S Alexander, Wm. H. Guion and H. Talmage [illegible] engaged in making a [illegible] into the affairs and [illegible] and will make public their reports on the 18th.

WASHINGTON CITY.

[illegible] Sept 16.—Mail Superintendent [illegible] telegraphed to the Postmaster [illegible] at New Orleans to-day that mail communication, which had been interrupted, has been resumed.

[illegible] of the Cabinet—[illegible] to General Emory.

The Cabinet meeting to-day resulted in the following dispatch from Adjutant General Townsend to General Emory, commanding Federal forces in Louisiana:

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C.,
September 16, 1874.

Under no circumstances recognise the insurgent government in Louisiana within five days [illegible] when the time given in proclamation to the insurgents will expire and such action will be taken as the emergency may require. By order of the President.

E D TOWNSEND, Adjutant General.

The Cabinet meeting this afternoon lasted four and a half hours. Secretaries Fish, Bristow, Attorney-General Williams, and Postmaster-General [illegible] were the only members present. The others are absent from the city. So far as can be [illegible] no more [illegible] was [illegible] that already announced in the President's dispatches and the orders to General Emory, that is, not to recognize the insurgent government and to [illegible]

[illegible] has abandoned for the present his intention of returning to Long Branch, the events [illegible] detaining him in Washington.

Probabilities.

It is probable that should the troubles increase in Louisiana, that State may be added to Sheridan's [illegible] or Gen. Terry may be ordered to New Orleans to rank Gen Emery in command. Though [illegible] have been ordered to New Orleans, those comprising the North Atlantic squadron may soon [illegible] in that vicinity. These things have been considered and a large number of available troops have been ordered to Louisiana.

[illegible] Sept 16.—Brevet Major General [illegible] and troops at Nashville have been ordered to New Orleans to-day to report to Gen. Emery for duty.

Troops and War Vessels Ordered to Louisiana.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The 22d regiment of infantry has been ordered to New Orleans, and war vessels are ordered there from Key West. The excitement here has somewhat subsided, and it is now believed the Penn party will not resist the Government forces under any circumstances. Troops at Fortress Monroe are also ordered to hold themselves in readiness. General McDowell is gathering up the force as can be spared from this Department for service in Louisiana. It is supposed that about [illegible] troops can be concentrated there within a week [illegible] days.

The President had a conference to-day with Admiral Reynolds on the subject of war vessels being sent to New Orleans.

The Formosan Difficulty.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Latest rumor is that the Japanese are willing to vacate the portion of Formosa occupied by them on condition that the Chinese Government will hold the people there under subjection and acknowledge that the Japanese were justified in taking possession.

The Mason county W. T. Republican Convention nominated the following ticket on the 12th inst.: Auditor, O F Williams; Sheriff, Francis H. Cook; Treasurer, David Shelton; Superintendent of Common Schools, John Campbell; Probate Judge, A F Chapman; County Commissioners, Charles M Stowell, Edward Callow, Edward Miller; Surveyor, J. S. W Shelton; Coroner, Wm. Walters; Justices of the Peace, Charles F Huntley and [illegible] Ackers. The delegates to the Republican Territorial Convention to be held at Vancouver are E Reils and Thos. W. McDonald, with Edward Callow and Francis H Cook as alternates. Thos W. McDonald was elected delegate to attend the Joint Convention to [illegible] in nomination a candidate for Joint Representative for the counties of Pierce and Mason. John Campbell was elected delegate to attend the convention to nominate a Joint Councilman for the counties of Pierce, Mason and Chehalis. Believing that the choice of Councilman would fall to Mason, the delegate was instructed to cast his vote for Francis H Cook.

A gentleman at Seattle writes to the Courier as follows: "We were shown a copy of analysis of four leads, or veins of minerals, lately discovered [illegible] on, or near Snohomish county, [illegible] of them making a valuable exhibit of gold and silver. More of this hereafter. The outlook is that our mountains are rich in valuable deposits."
